

Faculty Review of Open eTextbooks

The California Open Educational Resources Council has designed and implemented a faculty review process of the free and open etextbooks showcased within the California Open Online Library for Education (www.cool4ed.org). Faculty from the California Community Colleges, the California State University, and the University of California were invited to review the selected free and open etextbooks using a rubric. Faculty received a stipend for their efforts and funding was provided by the State of California, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Please provide comments on any aspect of the subject matter of this textbook:

- The book lacks depth and the chapters are short.
- Many of the examples would be outside the scope for our American audience (it says on the opening page that this is for those in New Zealand, Australia, and Pacifica. I'm unclear as to why this is even under consideration).

Overall Comments

If you were to recommend this textbook to colleagues, what merits of the textbook would you highlight?

- I wouldn't recommend this "book".

What areas of this textbook require improvement in order for it to be used in your courses?

- While wanting a culturally sensitive book, there need to be examples that I don't have to explain. That's why there are examples. The navigation is much too problematic.
